Subject: Community of 60,000 Gone

Dear Alexandre,

The last Christians fled Mosul, Iraq, running from the Islamic State of Iraq and Syria (ISIS) demands to convert to Islam, leave, or die. Fleeing Mosul for their lives, they were robbed of all their belongings, forced to become refugees with only the clothes on their back.

Today, the world is witnessing the mass persecution of the Iraqi Christian population. Sadly, the international community has expressed very little concern about their fate, with few coming to their aid.

In the 21st Century, the world community cannot sit idle and allow genocide to occur. We must push for the international community to act on behalf of the Christians in Iraq. Their survival depends on it!

In the 21st century, is it necessary to wait for a crime against humanity in order for the international community to act? Can we not learn from the lessons of the past?

After the US military pulled out of Iraq, the response to religious persecution by the International community has been totally inadequate and unacceptable. The UN did not release statements on what was happening in Mosul until the last Christian had left. We can only wonder at this lack of urgency.

The brutality of ISIS is real, as this week alone: 1,500 families fled Mosul forced to become refugees; countless numbers of innocent people were murdered; extremists raped a mother and daughter because they could not afford to pay the special Christian tax.

Now it is being reported that ISIS issued a decree to force 4 million Iraqi women to undergo genital mutilation.

Why is this being tolerated? At what point will the United Nations be brave enough to protect the 1.5 million Iraqi Christians. The Arab League consists of 20 nations in which Iraq is one of them. Not a word from them.

Save the Iraqi Christian Community!

Murder, rape, mutilation, expulsion... the list of atrocities goes on and on... but, you now understand how dire the situation is.

The Christian community in Iraq needs a loud voice. They need citizens from all over the world to be their voice.

Please use your voice to help end the systematic eradication of the Iraqi Christian population.
